

Welcome to the August Bulletin.

Thanks for your feedback from the last Bulletin. There was unanimous agreement that the logo with a white background was better than the pink so we have decided to go ahead with that.

We have also commissioned InfoAge to design and develop our new website and work has already commenced. Stage 1, the basic site should be up and running in early September. Keep an eye out and let us know what you think.

Stage 2 will take a little longer as the development of a jobs page and a new bulletin system needs more detailed technical work.

In addition to that we have launched a company presence on twitter and facebook:

<http://twitter.com/searchworks>

<http://www.facebook.com/searchworksLtd>

(We'd really appreciate it if you could 'like' our facebook page when you visit)

We are already extensive users of linkedin and have individual profiles there. The company profile will follow soon too.

Since none of us are in the generation that tweets and facebooks regularly we have also undertaken Stage 1 of Justin Flitter's Social Media Training course which we all found useful.

We are still on a big learning curve to become proficient in this area, but it would be great to join up with you on facebook, twitter or linkedin if we are not already connected.

If all goes well, we will have a new improved Bulletin coming your way in either September or October.

Meanwhile as always, we welcome your feedback or suggestions. A selection of candidates and the joke follow.

The team at Searchworks.

Please call or email if any of the candidates below catch your interest.

And now, here are some social media jokes

- Sally speaking to answering machine:
Hey Nancy, Twitter was down this morning, when you get this message can you call, I'm dying to know what you had for breakfast? Thanks.

- Doctor Tweeting to a patient:
'Your tests came back; You are very sick'

Patient Tweets back to doctor:

'Can I get a second opinion?'

Doctor Tweets:

'Yes, your Twitter page is ugly too.'

- My friend has just updated his status saying. Is balancing on the edge of a cliff.. So I poked him.

- Q: Why is Facebook a great site for loners?

A: Because it's the only place where they can talk to a wall and not be considered a loser!
